

Product : TRS-80 Model 12

Introduction: January 18, 1983

Config/Price: 2-disk, $3,499.00

1-disk, $2,799.00

Processor : Z-80A @ 4Mhz. (Separate keyboard & video processors).

RAM : 80K std, 144K maximum. Standard I/O: Parallel printer port

Two RS-232 ports, and disk bay port.

Disk Drives : 1 or 2 internal, plus 2 external 8" DS/DD, 1.25Mb each.

Up to 4 external 15Mb winchesters.

Keyboard : 82-Key detached, with 10key pad and 8 function keys.

Monitor : 80x24 12", high-resolution, green, built-in.

Graphics : Standard - 32 block graphics characters.

Opt. - 640x240. Comes with special Graphics BASIC language, graphics subroutine pack, and 32K video RAM on board.

Expansion : Two internal 8" disk drives, optional internal card cage with six plug-in slots. May be upgraded to full Multi-User, 68000-based TRS-80 Model 16B.

Construction: Two-piece, with space for 2 internal disk drives.

Color : Fawn Gray (off white).

Operating : TRSDOS 4.2 and Microsoft BASIC interpreter (included).

Systems & : Optional - FORTRAN, COBOL Development System, 2 Editor/

Languages: Assemblers, Compiler BASIC, PASCAL MT+, Assembly Language Development System, and Microsoft BASCOM.

CP/M-Plus (Optional).

CBASIC.

Features : Second 64K RAM can be used by machine language programs such as VisiCalc. Model 12 is the latest update to Radio Shack's very popular TRS-80 Model II, which was introduced in May of 1979. It provides a smaller profile, improved keyboard, green-phosphor screen, and is significantly more expandable. Of course it runs all software originally sold for Model II. Many of these packages provide an upgrade path from Model 12's single-user operation, to Model 16's multi-user operation, without the need to re-key any data. Also available is ARCNET, local area networking for the Model 12.