Radio Shack® Sponsors Five Major "Personal Computer Showcases"

FORT WORTH, TEXAS -- Tandy Corporation/Radio Shack has announced sponsorship of five "Personal Computer Showcases."

"The Personal Computer Showcases will offer visitors a first-hand look at programs from more than 100 of the best-known software companies," said Ron G. Stegall, senior vice president of Radio Shack's Business Products Division.

"The whole range of applications will be covered, including top-selling Lotus 1-2-3™ accounting and new Symphony™ integrated software packages, applications and development tools such as Microsoft's MS-DOS®, educational software from companies such as McGraw-Hill Publishing Company, and home education and entertainment programs from companies such as Spinnaker Software and IMAGIC. And, there will be ample opportunity to address questions directly to representatives of the companies that develop the programs," he said.

"This show is very positive for users who want to see the spectrum of products available for Tandy computers. People will be able to see the hardware and software products available in one place," said Egil Juliussen, chairman of the board of Future Computing, a Dallas, Texas based market research group. "The more focused a show, the better it will do. This show will bring people who are really interested in Tandy products."

Each show will be a two-day exhibit and a series of seminars covering topics of interest to business and professional people, educators and the general public. Each day a keynote address will be given by one nationally-known industry leader and by one top educator.

Industry keynote speakers will include individuals such as Dan Bricklin, Chairman of the Board of Software Arts; Wayne Erickson, Chairman, Microrim, Inc.; Bill Gates, Chairman of the Board of Microsoft; Fred Gibbons, Founder and President of Software Publishing; Tom Gregory, President of Ovation Technologies; Egil Juliussen, Chairman of Future Computing; John Rowley, President of Digital Research; Seymour Rubinstein, Chairman Emeritus of MicroPro International; and Dan Fylstra, Chairman, VisiCorp.

Education keynote speakers will include Dr. Billy R. Reagan, General Superintendent, Houston Independent Schools; Dean C. Corrigan, Dean, College of Education, Texas A & M University; Dr. Alton C. Crews, Superintendent, Gwinnett County Public Schools, Georgia; Dr. Alphonse Buccino, Dean, College of Education, University of Georgia; Donald E. Dearborn, Superintendent, Galloway Township Public Schools, New Jersey; Dr. Gene Geisert, Associate Professor of Education, St. John's University, New York; Dr. John Bristol, Superintendent, Lyons Township Schools, Illinois; and Dr. Harold Esch, Department of Biology, Notre Dame University.

(A list of keynote speakers, dates, times and locations is attached.)

The exhibit areas will consist of approximately 125 booths showing software and hardware products and accessories which can be used on TRS-80 computers. There will be a wide variety of software, accounting programs, word processors, electronic filing, educational and entertainment items.

Seminars will be held each day on a variety of subjects including the future of personal computing, multi-user systems, and productivity software. Participants will even have the opportunity for some "hands-on" experience with TRS-80 computers.

The Personal Computer Showcases will be held at the following locations on the dates shown:

Albert Thomas Hall Houston, Texas	Tue. Sept. 18 - Wed. Sept. 19
Merchandise Mart Atlanta, Ga.	Tue. Sept. 25 - Wed. Sept. 26
