TANDY CORPORATION Company Background

Tandy Corporation is a world leader in electronics manufacturing and consumer electronics retailing.

Products are distributed through Radio Shack® outlets, GRiD Systems Centers, and Name Brand Retail as well as selected alternate channels.

Tandy Corporation is the parent company of Radio Shack (the largest electronics chain in the world), Memtek Products (manufacturers and distributors of Memorex® brand magnetic audio and video tapes), Lika Corporation (a leading U.S. manufacturer of printed circuit boards), O'Sullivan Industries (the leading manufacturer of ready-to-assemble electronic racks and cabinets), Tandy Name Brand Retail (which includes McDuff® Electronics and VideoConcepts®--audio, video and appliance retailer), and GRiD Systems (premier supplier of laptop computers).

Tandy Corporation operates 31 manufacturing plants, two joint ventures, and seven research and development centers worldwide. All of Tandy's desktop personal computers are manufactured in the U.S.A.

As a unit sales leader of PC-compatible computers, Tandy's diverse technology base, with its emphasis on quality, innovation and competitiveness, has brought many "firsts" to the computer market--the first personal computer available nationwide, the TRS-80® Model I; the first popular laptop computer, the TRS-80® Model 100; and DeskMate®, one of the first graphical user interfaces for 8088, 8086 and 80286-based MS-DOS® personal computers.

In order to leverage off of Tandy's world-class manufacturing capabilities, alternate channels of distribution have recently been developed, including the expansion of GRiD Systems Corporation to grow its significant government and Fortune 1000 marketing opportunities; direct sales agreements with specialized resellers; and strategic OEM agreements.

Through unique control over its products from manufacturing to market, Tandy Corporation has grown into a multinational firm with revenues exceeding $4.2 billion annually. Tandy stock is traded on the New York Stock Exchange under the symbol TAN. Its corporate headquarters is located in Fort Worth, Texas.
