RADIO SHACK ANNOUNCES FAX SYSTEM FOR PC's UTILIZING THE DESKMATE INTERFACE

FORT WORTH, Texas -- Radio Shack®, the leading supplier of PC-compatible computers, demonstrated today an easy-to-use facsimile board with software using the DeskMate® graphical user interface. The product was announced during an analyst meeting hosted by Tandy Corporation in Fort Worth.

The Tandy FaxMate™ facsimile system is a complete facsimile solution for today's home office, business or education environment.

To fax information from within any DeskMate application, the user simply creates a cover sheet using the fax software utility, composes the document with any DeskMate application and sends it. The entire process occurs in the background, allowing the user to continue working with the computer. An audio signal indicates the fax has been sent.

Tandy FaxMate works with all DeskMate applications, including Lotus Spreadsheet for DeskMate, DeskMate Q&A Write, Paintshow Plus, and PFS: First Publisher. Through the DeskMate Desktop, non-DeskMate applications are supported as well.

Utilizing the Tandy FaxMate's advanced mode, the user can display and print incoming faxes, broadcast a fax to several recipients, poll other fax stations for incoming faxes and scan printed material using optional hand or full-page scanners.

The adapter card fits any PC-compatible expansion slot and connects to a telephone line through built-in modular telephone jacks. It transmits data at 4,800 bits per second (bps) with automatic fallback to 2,400 bps.

The Tandy FaxMate system includes an 8-bit adapter card, application software, a user's guide, and telephone cord. It will be available in December with a suggested retail price of $349.95.

It requires 640 kilobytes of memory, one floppy and one hard disk drive, MS-DOS® 3.1 operating system or higher, a graphics adapter, and a standard rotary or touch-tone telephone line.

The suggested retail price is good at Radio Shack Computer Centers®, and participating Radio Shack® stores and dealers nationwide.
